This national client has furnished their space in Denver with sophisticated private offices, and numerous custom pieces to meet their aesthetic and function needs. Cimarex's fast paced complex working environment frequently requires short lead-time responses. We assess their workplace environment and provide solutions to meet their needs which varies greatly from one location to the next. Our commitment to the client relationship was best illustrated with hurricane Katrina. We helped Cimarex salvage, clean, and relocate to temporary facilities. Once their new location became available, we helped them move. We strived to help Cimarex minimize down time and get back to work in a timely and economical manner.
